DEATH SUMMONS MISS JACQUELINE WALPERT, YOUTHFUL NILES GIRL

End Comes In San Jose After Long Period of Illness

Death saddened the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Walpert, of Niles, Friday night when their only daughter and child, Miss Jacqueline Walpert, died at a private sanitarium in San Jose.

Miss Walpert was born in San Francisco, but was brought up and lived almost her entire life at the home of her parents in Niles. She was twenty-two years and seven months of age at the time of her passing. The girl's father is a well-known rancher and cattleman in Washington township.

The deceased was a graduate of the Niles grammar school, after which she attended Miss Head's Seminary in Berkeley. She was taken ill before completing her course at that school and had been failing in health ever since. She had been suffering from tuberculosis and had been confined in a sanitarium at San Jose for sixteen months before her death.

During the time prior to when illness confined her almost entirely indoors, Miss Walpert made many friends both among the young and old alike, through her cheerful and unselfish personality. Throughout the long period of suffering before the end came, she displayed a spirit of fortitude and evidenced a cheerfulness that touched the hearts of all those who knew her.

Private funeral services were held from the Garden chapel of the Pratt Mortuary in Hayward, at one thirty o'clock Monday afternoon. F. V. Jones, of Niles, a close friend of the girl officiated. Interment was made in the Cypress Lawn cemetery in San Francisco.

The deceased is survived by her parents of Niles. She also was the niece of Miss Clara Walpert, Adolph and Emily May, of Hayward, and Mrs. Ralph V. Richmond, of Niles.

The sympathy of the community has been extended to the bereaved parents.

PLEASANTON STORE OFFERS GREAT BARGAINS

After seventy years in Pleasanton, H. Arendt is quitting the general merchandise business with a gigantic closing-out sale. J. Dimond, merchandise auditor, of San Francisco, is in Pleasanton with orders to close out the entire stock without regard to cost or the former selling prices.

Arendt has been known to deal in nothing but the best in all his lines. The present stock includes men's, women's and children's ready-to-wear, yard goods, bedding, notions, men's and boys' furnishings, men's, women's and children's shoes, groceries, hardware, furniture and household goods.

The coming sale is to be an unusual one. Nothing is to be reserved. Everything is to be sold to the end. The sale starts this morning and will continue until the entire stock is sold. The store will be open evenings to accommodate the out-of-town buyers.

Dimond is well-known throughout the state to have no mercy when it comes to cutting merchandise. He assures the people of Alameda county that this will be one of the greatest bargain events ever held.

ADORED WASHINGTON TOWNSHIP PIONEER PASSES TO LONG REST

Miss Jennie McCormick Suddenly Taken Sunday

One of the oldest and most beloved of Centerville and Washington township pioneers answered the call of death Sunday morning when Miss Jennie McCormick passed away peacefully at her home on the Centerville-Newark road. She was eighty-two years, one month and seventeen days of age.

The end came as a sudden shock to the deceased's many friends in southern Alameda county. Miss McCormick had never been troubled with illness a day of her life except for a slight attack of bronchitis several years ago. She had been very active until the very end in spite of her age, and on Saturday night had attended a party in company with her nieces.

Sunday morning she arose early and was preparing breakfast when she complained of "feeling tired." When her ailment grew worse a doctor was called but her heart quietly stopped beating before the physician arrived at the home.

Miss McCormick was born in Ypsilanti, Michigan, but came to California in 1856 when she was only eight years of age. Her father had come to the state several years earlier and then gone back after the family, which came by way of the Isthmus of Panama.

Her father purchased a tract of land in Alvarado at what is now known as the old Lowry place, and there established one of the first orchards in Alameda county. Material and other equipment

TWO NEW BUILDINGS IS SEEN FOR NILES

In spite of prevailing sentiment in regard to depression, Niles has one optimist for whom the word seems to hold no fears.

This is J. A. Silva, justice of the peace, who recently completed an attractive, modern building of $12,000 at the corner of First and J streets, Niles, and is now planning for the erection of two more structures in the near future.

Silva plans to erect a business structure on the lot back of where his new building is located. This will be a sixty feet by sixty feet one story concrete building with accommodations for two business establishments. The wooden frame which formerly housed a pool hall will be torn down.

The other building planned by the Niles judge is a five room up to date residence. It will be a cottage type and finished in attractive appearing stucco.

Hands Badly Burned In Beating Out Fire

Rather than risk the danger of igniting a serious grass blaze, Carlo Redmond, of Richmond, beat out a fire in dry leaves and grass near Niles Sunday, with his bare hands. Sparks from Redmond's campfire caused the blaze.

As a result of extinguishing the fire with his hands, the man suffered two badly burned limbs which were treated in Niles.

REPRESENTATIVE VISITS

William P. Jost, representative to the state assembly from the thirteenth district, was in Niles Monday on a business trip.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

By NORMAN H. PARKS, Publisher Register

Dawes a Thrifty Fellow!

AT LEAST ONE disturbing influence on business has been abated—Congress has adjourned. While the country is thankful that it is over, it is not exactly shouting about what has been done in the way of corrective legislation. It may be that we should offer thanks for what Congress failed to do to us, for that which it did not do. Considering the complexion of that body, the environment of its members and the philosophy of government that obtains in Washington, it is not surprising that the virus of special privilege gets into the blood of the best-intentioned legislator after he arrives in the national capital; or that he is cajoled by wealth and social position, out of whatever idea he formerly possessed that all men should be and by right are born equal—that the humblest man should have no impediment placed upon his advancement by laws aiding those who already possess more than is good for them and their fellow men.

Yes, under the circumstances—that is, the general attitude of the people themselves in condoning legislative abuses and pampering capitalistic groups—it is a wonder that Congress did, even on the eve of a campaign, give the country a relief bill with any merit in it at all. And the measure really has some merit, thanks to the fighting qualities of many democrats and a few progressive republicans. Something over two billion dollars, some hundred millions or so of which may eventually reach the bottom of the social and business strata, was appropriated.

The two billions of the finance corporation is about gone, and Dawes, until a few weeks ago head of that commission, "lifted" ninety million to save his own Chicago bank from failure. While he was saving his bank, with money intrusted to his care, fifteen small banks in the suburban districts of that great city, carrying no deposits of large concerns but just the little earnings of the small man and the wage earner, went to the wall and carried down with them into an abyss of misery tens of thousands of small depositors. Then Dawes quit, after he got his ninety millions. How far he went in liquidating his own personal fortune to save his banking institution before he raided the finance corporation, of course, is a matter that the writer or few others will ever know. But probably he chose the easiest way—let you and we, the "dear people," through oppressive taxes, pay the bill.

And that is what became of the two billions. It has gone to great institutions—gone there, we venture to say, long before the individual wealth of the stockholders had been exhausted. This is quite a contrast to the fate that awaits the worldly possessions of the man and woman who read this editorial. He and she, being cramped for cash, will first sell everything possessed in order to keep

PEST AREAS ARE DESTROYED DURING JUNE BY DISTRICT

Draining of Land Eliminates Two Sources of Mosquitos

The month of June saw the elimination of two areas in southern Alameda county where mosquitos have thrived in the past, according to the report made last week by officials of the Alameda County Mosquito Abatement district.

One of these areas is located near Newark on the Plummer and nearby properties and the other southwest of San Leandro at Mulford Landing. The elimination of these breeding places was accomplished by draining the land.

The area near Newark was of such extent and was too isolated to be successfully controlled by the oiling process. According to the report, several flights of the insects had escaped from the land this year. Partial control by oiling had been accomplished in the Mulford Landing area, although it had been a source of much difficulty.

The report indicated a successful demonstration of the practicability of oiling by aeroplane had been staged near Newark on June 23. For complete effectiveness, however, slight mechanical change in the equipment of the planes are necessary. These changes can be made without a great deal of trouble, when any extensive use of aeroplanes is planned or desired.

The districts budget for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1932 revealed total expenditures at $53,121.05, of which $7,577.88 was incurred during June. Salaries and wages for the year totaled $32,191.86, while maintenance and operating expenses amounted to $14,369.98. Minor capital outlays, such as office furniture and equipment, came to $6,559.21.

A surplus of $12,747.95 was established in the district budget for the year, as the budget authorized by the Board of Supervisors was set at $65,869.00. Thus the district will be able to operate on a cash basis, pending the collecting of taxes in December, 1932.

A higher surplus than the above figure is shown in the budget, due to taxes to the amount of $69,331.74 being collected and paid into the district fund. There also were miscellaneous receipts to the amount of $143.57, making the total receipts to $69,475.31, nearly $4,000 more than the appropriation. Thus a cash balance of $16,354.26 was on hand July 1, 1932.

When the chief complaining witness failed to appear, the case of Emil Christenson, of Oakland, was continued in the Niles justice court Tuesday afternoon until next week's court session.

Christenson is charged with driving while drunk as the result of an automobile accident near Niles on the night of the Fourth. He will be represented by Harris & Sullivan law offices, of Oakland, at the preliminary hearing next week.

Motor Vehicle Cases Occupy Niles Court

Traffic violation cases continued to form most of the docket at the Niles justice court Tuesday afternoon. Twelve violators paid fines, levied by Judge J. A. Silva, amounting to $69, while a large number of cases are yet to be disposed of at next week's session.

As a candidate for Supervisor I am fully awake to the fact that our taxes are beyond our ability, as property owners, to pay, and I recognize that ways and means MUST be found to reduce them.

In view of these facts I submit the platform on which I faithfully pledge myself to stand:

To support economical and tax saving measures.

The voluntary reduction of the supervisors' salaries in proportion to the reduction, already made or to be made, of the salaries and wages of other county employees.

The elimination of expensive automobiles furnished the supervisors by the county.

The elimination of the position of road foremen as under the present charter they are given no authority over road work.

To dispense with the unfair and unnecessary road tax.

Fairness and impartiality to all seeking county employment and aid.

Assure the county of receiving full value for money expended.

Respectfully submitted to the voters of the first supervisorial district.

GROVE HAS PICNIC IN PLEASANTON FOR DRUID CIRCLE

Business and Social Meetings Are Held at Odd Fellows' Hall Afterwards

Members of the Pleasanton Druids Circle were the guests of the Druids Grove at a barbecue held at McKinley Park, in Pleasanton, Monday evening.

A large turnout of members from both organizations responded to the feast. Barbecued lamb, coffee and salad made up the menu. The meat was barbecued by Lee Wells, of Pleasanton.

Following the barbecue both lodges held their business meetings at the Odd Fellows' hall. After the short business sessions, social activities were enjoyed until a late hour in the evening.

The barbecue was under the direction of Ambrose Rivolta, Chris Segrise and Charles Fiorio.

U. S. BULLETIN DISCUSSES WILT OF STRAWBERRIES

While no specific recommendations can yet be suggested for the control of what is known as verticillium wilt of strawberries, causing much alarm to California growers because of the dying of plants, the disease and its spread may be combatted according to statement made in a new University of California bulletin by Harold E. Thomas, assistant plant pathologist in the experiment station of the College of Agriculture.

The disease, according to Thomas, causes strawberry plants to wilt, turn brown, and die, and because of the browning produced in the leaves of affected plants, has sometimes been referred to in California as "brown blight."

Fungus in Nurseries

"No evidence," says Thomas, "exists at the present time that plants coming from various propagating nurseries are infected with the wilt fungus upon arrival. On the other hand, it is not unlikely that plants could become infested in propagating beds and spread the disease into the field. Those engaged in propagating plants for sale should be careful that their beds are located on ground not previously cropped to tomatoes or other plants known to be affected with verticillium wilt."

"From field observations made thus far, it is concluded that the tomato is the principal crop responsible for the spread of the fungus to strawberries. Several years should elapse between the growing of tomatoes and the planting of strawberries. Spraying is of no avail in the control of the disease."

Water Does Not Help

"Plants showing symptoms of wilt are sometimes thought to be suffering from lack of moisture, and often greater amounts of water are added. This usually not only fails to improve the condition in the plant, but actually aggravates the disease."

Copies of the new bulletin, No. 530, entitled "Verticillium Wilt of Strawberries," may be secured free from the College of Agriculture, University of California, Berkeley, or from the farm advisors in the various counties.

ON VACATION

Early Relics Contrast Flour Making Methods

Although the flour eaten in our daily bread of today is manufactured by a far different and more rapid method, an opportunity to glimpse two evolutionary stages in the development of obtaining flour is offered by an interesting and colorful exhibit in the Galleagos gardens in Mission San Jose.

Standing in the gardens adjoining the historic old mission property is a water wheel brought around the Horn by the early Spanish padres to be used for the first flour mill in the northern part of the state. Resting between its huge castiron hubs in contrast to one of the first steps in the evolutionary process is a perfect specimen of the Indian metate -- a flat volcanic stone used by the natives to grind their acorns and corn into coarse flour and meal. Alongside of the stone is one of the original mill stones used by the padres for many years in the mission mill.

This picturesque mill was at a perfect state of preservation in 1868 when Juan Galleagos came to California. Galleagos first came to Central America from Spain and acted as a governor of a large territory, but later made a large fortune in exporting coffee. Coming to California, he made a purchase of approximately 5000 acres of rich land from the Bank of Paris of what was once a part of the mission domain.

In the construction of the mill building, split lumber was used but nails were absent in assembling the building. Rawhide thongs were employed to do the work now performed by nails. Later the crude machinery was dismantled and the structure torn down. The machinery was stored in a barn where it remained until the San Francisco fire in 1906.

Held in the water wheel's hubs, which are nearly five feet in diameter, by rusty bolts are stubs of the hardwood timber which carried the paddles. An iron shaft about five inches in diameter forms the mounting for the hubs. The castings were made in England, said Robert Galleagos, son of Juan Galleagos.

William Randal, who is employed at the Pleasanton Service Station, has returned from a two-weeks' vacation spent in Southern California.

Miss Alice Schween is spending three weeks motoring through Oregon, Washington and Canada.

afloat. Failing to find a buyer for what they have left and unable to get money elsewhere—and unless double-gilt-edged security is given, a loan is a thing merely longed for, never gotten—they will be sold out, and with no Uncle Sam to pull their chestnuts out of the fire for them.

The relief bill amended at the demand of Herbert Hoover, eliminates the provision that anything could be loaned to individuals. In "righteous" rage, the chief executive threatened to veto any measure that would possibly let the little fellow in on the money. It would be a half-sister, he insisted, to the dole—and that would never do! The Dawes matter, of course, was not a dole. It was something else again.

So there you are, friends.

Congress has quit. It has appropriated over four billions of dollars for the relief of large interests, it has added to your tax burdens by a sum that staggers the imagination, and our fervent prayer shall be, "may a few dollars dribble down to thee."

Dempsey 'In Person'

THE OTHER night we went to the Fox-Oakland theater for a little diversion while in the hustling country town up the bay. The talkie had something to do with red headed women—and those women are dangerous even to look at on the screen. This one, playing the leading role, was real naughty, and to say that our blood pressure went up several degrees was stating fact not fiction. But that is not what we started out to write about here.

At the end of the erotic reel, who should appear before the foot-lights but that famous pug—the former world champion mauler, Jack Dempsey. We have read a lot about Dempsey, not because we wanted to, but because his name has been "smeared" over the newspapers to such an extent that to avoid absorbing a few laudatory facts about his career was impossible. We never have liked prize fighters. We have always thought them tough, brutal and low-brow. They are, perhaps only in very rare exceptions, the product of the lowest dives, and seep up to pugilistic fame from the very dregs of society.

We have heard a lot that has not been printed about this Dempsey fellow—just how he got by in Salt Lake City and in Nevada. Heard all about his "war record" and his matrimonial ventures—especially his first one. Our mind was a little prejudiced, naturally. So when he appeared on the stage we were anxious to check back on our mental picture of the man and see how it tallied with the facts. Well, we didn't have to change the picture, not the slightest. His forehead starts back at an angle of thirty degrees from his eyebrows. He has the swagger of a poolhall bum. He looks like an orang-utang all dressed up.

Of course we can't complain to the theater management—it is an "Old Spanish Custom"—often even trained baboons are shown for the amusement of patrons.

WARM-AIR Furnace Radiant-fire
 GAS HEAT will maintain this Comfort Zone at low cost
 Floor Furnace

EACH year, during the month of July, gas heating dealers in cooperation with P. G. and E. offer special inducement low prices and easiest of terms on the installation of gas heating equipment. This year, with improved gas heating appliances of highest quality, prices are lower than ever.

Besides the money you actually save by taking advantage of Special July Prices, you avoid tying up your money for summer bargain fuel you must pay for now and will not use for months to come. Gas is a fuel you pay for after you use it. Moreover, an investment in gas heating equipment may be made with an extremely small first payment and no other payments of any kind until October 1st.

Last year more than 30,000 families in Northern and Central California installed gas equipment and enjoyed the carefree comfort of Controlled Heating. Men chose gas heating so that the women of the household might be freed from the drudgery and responsibility of constant fire-tending during the day. Women approved of the comfortable uniform heat that helped prevent colds, an important factor in keeping the family well and strong.

You can obtain the carefree comfort of gas heating in two ways: (1) by modernizing your home with gas heating equipment of several types or (2) by changing your present furnace to burn gas at a moderate cost.

To learn fully about gas heating and the Special July Prices, consult a reliable gas heating dealer in your community or any office of this company. Let them explain to you how little cash outlay is needed.
